A Brilliant Ball Opens the Week of Gaiety-Rapidly-Growing Crowd.

and Miss Leeds, of New Orleans. These ladies are always ready to promote the In the entertainments that occur daily.

One of the most attractive social functions of the week was the euchre party of Thursday night. The ball-room was crowded with a highly interested company, and it was a late hour before the game was played out and the prizes awarded to the successful contestants. Miss Kathleen Thomas, of Crockett's, Va., as highest winner, received a beautful tollet case; Dr. Schenck, of Salem, won a package of fine cigars, and Mr. James Griffin, of Salem, the consolation prize, a dainty pen-wiper, monkey on a in the entertainments that occur daily.

won a package of this cigars, and air. James Griffin, of Salem, the consolation prize, a dainty pen-wiper, monkey on a stick. The costumes worn on this occasion are well worthy of mention. Mrs. Violet Duesberry Bidgood, a former Richmond girl, was a vision of beauty in white lace and violet ribbons; her jewels diamonds and pearls. Miss Brown, of Fayetteville was daintily attired in blue chiffon, pearls and white roses. Miss Brown is decidedly pretty and chic, with a half-Southern, half-Parisian charm of manner, a blending of grace brought about, no doubt, by her long residence in the courtly capital of France. Mrs. Larry Pettyjohn, of Indiana, was radiant in a blue and white gown draped in Duchesse lace, with handsome pearls. Mrs. Pettyjohn is a transplanted Georgia flower, intensely, Southern in her sympathies and very proud of her Southern descent. Mrs. Bonner Richardson was a picture of girlish prettiness in white and black, with exquisite amethysts. Miss Paris net, heavily embroidered with yellow roses and bunches of golden wheat. Among others who were present, either as spectators or as players, were Mr. and Mrs. George Schoen, Mr. W. T. Knight and Miss Henning, of Richmond; Mrs. Camper, Misses Thomas, Barnett, Pettyjohn, Schleunes, Brown, Schonck, Richardson and Boswell.

On Saturday afternoon some of the young ladies gave a fudge party, which proved a most delightful affair. As the girls assembled, laden with chafing dishes and other cooking gear, and marched off to the lower veranda, which had been selected as the field of their cullinary operations, the unhvited members of the male sex sat on the upper potch, their feet on the railing, pretending to read their newspapers, giving occasional half-disdainful snifts at the baro-idea of a mere "woman's party." But as the sounds of increased chatter and merriment floated to them from below, they began to grow restless and to east wistful glances in that direction, and as the enticing odor of simmering chocolate was borne to their cultivated olfactory nerves, they could resist no longer, but surrendered at discretion. Down went the newspapers, and one by one the lords of creation appeared half-sheepishy around the veranda corner amid shrieks of feminine mirth. In response to their eager offers of assistance one good-looking young fellow was put to cracking nuts, while half a dozen pretty girls sat ground him, picking out the kernels. One dignified individual greased the plates, another stirred the candy; some were set to fixing alcohol stoves, washing dishes and other con-

The ball of Monday night was a brilliant success. The large ball-room was thronged with pretty women and gallant men, the largest crowd of the season being present, and the beaux more than ever in evidence, several having arrived most opportunely from Shawsville and of the reighboring places. A pottion of the evening is always devoted to the dancing of the lancars and the Old Virginia reel, young and old participating in the fun.

Among the new arrivals, too numerous to chronicle, are Mr. C. S. Fensom, Mrs. Ella Fensom and Miss Irene Fensom, of Richmond; Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Lecky and daughter, Fancy Hill, Va.; George W. Johnson and Miss Mamie Johnson, Bedford City; Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Robertis, children and maid, Norfolk; Mrs. Ed. T. Merrick and family, New Orleans; N. P. Angle, Rocky Mount, Va.; Mrs. S. J. Burnette and Miss Burnette, Gainesville, Va.; Judge R. C. McClaugherty, Bluefield, W. Va.

The crowd is increasing daily, The amusements and pleasant social functions are too numerous for a special mention of all, and the entertainments promised for the complex properties.

Eruption Broke Out in Spots All Over Body—Caused a Continual Itching for Two Years—Doctor's Medicine Did no Good - Cured at Expense of only $1.25 and Now

THANKS CUTICURA FOR COMPLETE CURE

"Some time ago I wrots you for a book on the Cutieura Remedies and received it O. K. and went and bought the Soap, Ointment, and Pills. They did me more good than any medicine I ever used. They cured me of my skin disease, and I am very thankful to you. My trouble was sruption of the skin, which broke out in spots all over my body, and caused a continual itching which nearly drove me wild at times. I got medicine of a doctor, but it did not cure me, and when I saw in a paper your ad. I sent to you for the Cuticura book and I studied my case in it. I then went to the drug store and bought one cake of Cuticura Soap, one box of Cuticura Pills. From the first application I received relief. I used the first set and two extra cakes of Cuticura. Soap, and was completely cured. I had suffered for two years, and I again thank Cuticura for my cure. If you wish, you may publish this. Your friend forever, Claude N. Johnson, Maple Grove Farm, R. F. D. 2, Walnut / Kan., June 15, 1905."

ITCH! ITCH! ITCH!

BCRATCH! SCRATCH! SCRATCH! This is the condition of thousands of skin-tortured men, women, and children, who may be instantly relieved and speedily cured by warm baths with Cutieura Soap and gentle applications of Cutieura Cintment, the great Skin Cure; and mild doses of Cutieura Resolvent Pills, when physicians and all else fail.

Old Sweet is a source of unfailing pleasure. One can spend hours under its immense maples or loousts, whose rugged trunks attest their great age, wetoning
the birds who make their homes in them.
There is the woodpecker, pecking most industriously; also the 'robins hopping on the grass in perfect security, while "bod-writes" are heard in every direction and modest little wrans claim their share of attention.

The glory of the lawn is its grove of majestic cakes, whose ages are estimated at from six to eight hundred years, and which entirely shade its lower end. Where space has been allowed them to develop untrammelled they have attained huge proportions.

The lawn is the delight of the little folks, who are here in goodly numbers and who spend much of their time three, riding and driving their donkeys and ponies and playing all sorts of games.

The tennis court has gained in favor
during the last week, and golf has found more devotees. One hears rumors of a tournament later in the season.

A charming addition to the social circle is Mrs. H. H. Andrew, of New York

FINE ARBORAGE

Original Forests of Many Varieties Untouched by the Woodman's Ax.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.)

NATURAL BRIDGE, VA., July 21.—it is seldom now that one finds forests of original growth through Virginia. Usually the "woodman's ax" has not been "spared," and it is becoming one of the intricate questions of our country where it will ond; there is greater demand for it will only the interest of the June of our country against the 'helnous, insatianle thirst of the lumberman and the deserrated cutting of our woods.

The landscape around the Bridge has not been so marred; the trees have been left for generations to grow as they will, and nowhere can be found such gloriously yordant and luxuriant forests; such a favorite fairy among the sweet humining of the insects and merry twittering of the birds.

The winding, up-and-down-till pathway through the gien is interlapped and interlaced with trees that one spidom sees; to the oasual observer no less than twenty-five varieties come under his supervision. The most striking of these is the arbor vitae, which grows to a larger size here than anywhere else in the world. It is generally much prized because of its rareness, but it is as prevalent here as any other. There is wonderful picturesqueness, about this tree, with its wild-spreading, shade-giving branches and graceful mien; a gentle, refined dignity aurrounds it, and one would naturally note it above sil others; and not the least of its attractions is its thoroughly delicous, pungent ador.

I count it a rare privilege to take this walk and come in close contact with Mother Nature and her charms; one is upilited and carried away from the sordid things of life, and borne on wings to a sphere that is higher and nobler; the soul is invigorated, and the heart and mind consumed with aspirations for the ideal.
